

ROLL OF VICTORY SHOWS

Compiled by the American Angus Association

*Top show cattle honored during Awards Recognition Breakfast
Nov. 5 in Columbus, Ohio.*

A strong drive, determination and competitive spirit play a major role in the Angus breed, and this is reflected in show rings around the country each year. The American Angus Association offers their Roll of Victory (ROV) Show Program to recognize show-winning animals and their sires and dams.

Exceptional Angus cattle and their breeders and owners who were winners during the 2017-2018 show season were recognized at the 2018 Angus Convention Nov. 5 in Columbus, Ohio.

“ROV winning cattle are some of the top cattle in the industry,” says Allen Moczygemba, Association CEO.

“They set the pace for the breed and the type of bulls and females Angus breeders will be seeking to purchase in the coming months.”

The ROV season runs from June 1 through May 31 and consists of 19 shows. Points for these shows are accumulated on an annual basis.

ROV SHOW BULL OF THE YEAR

Cade Stertzbach, Louisville, Ohio; David Smith, Boulder, Colo.; and Massie Creek Cattle, Cedarville, Ohio, were recognized for the ROV Show Bull of the Year, SCC Tradition of 24. Pictured (from left) are Bruce Stertzbach; David Smith; Amie Stertzbach; 2018 Miss American Angus Kallie Knott; and Allen Moczygemba, American Angus Association CEO.

ROV SHOW HEIFER OF THE YEAR

Carter Ward, Plattsburg, Mo., was recognized for the ROV Show Heifer of the Year, EXAR Princess 6680. Pictured (from left) are Carter Ward; Knott; and Moczygemba.

ROV BREEDER OF THE YEAR

Express Angus Ranches, Yukon, Okla., was recognized as ROV Breeder of the Year. Pictured (from left) are Bob Funk and Jarold Callahan, both of Express Angus Ranches; Knott; Donnie Robertson and Mark Squires, both of Express Angus Ranches; and Moczygemba.