George Becker Does It Again!

Windac Junior Miss 3467 certainly caught the eye of George Becker—a staunch supporter of youth from Enderlin, N.D., and buyer of last year's $20,000 Angus Foundation heifer—as he struck again to purchase the February daughter of Dr. Spock for $21,000.

Windy Acres, Harrison, Neb. selected the heifer from the heart of their replacement females, then teamed with the generosity of Premier Angus Inc., Cloverdale, Ind. and their embryo division (Granada Genetics) to create part of the exciting sale package. Harding & Harding, Geneva, Ill., agreed to insure the heifer, while the owners of the following bulls donated a breeding privilege: Garney Big Stick, HAR Bang 1774, Pine Drive Big Sky, Premier Celebration, Premier Independence KN and QLC Winchester.

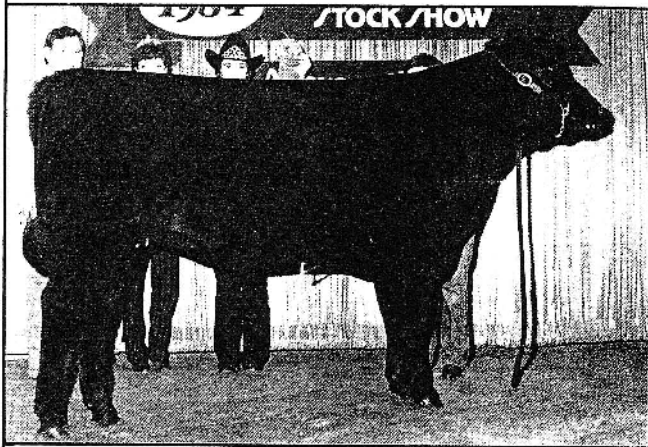

The Angus Foundation is a non-profit organization which supports youth activities, education and research while supporting the National Junior Angus Board of Directors.

The pen where Summitcrest's carload was housed attracted a lot of interest and traffic. The 15 bulls earned reserve grand champion honors.

JUNIOR SHOW

Ryan Cotton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Cotton, Howell, Mich., was at the halter of the junior show grand champion, Premier Victoria 110A. The 5-4-82 daughter of Ken Caryl Mr. Angus 8017 was Dave Hawkins' pick of the 19 heifers.

Janna Nelson Herbst, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Nelson, Salmon, Idaho, led out the reserve grand champion heifer, stepping into the Denver junior show purple for the fourth consecutive year. Nelson Golden Girl, her 2-3-83 daughter of KAF Gold Strike also went on to win a tough calf class in the open show.

OPEN TO THE WORLD STEER SHOW

All of the contenders for grand champion of Denver's open steer show were black—in fact all but three of the show's 30 entries wore a black hide. Joe Lewis, Larned, Kan., lined up the steers, selecting Angus-Chianina crosses for champion and reserve. Kody Newman's grand champion (pictured at right) weighed 1,224 lb.

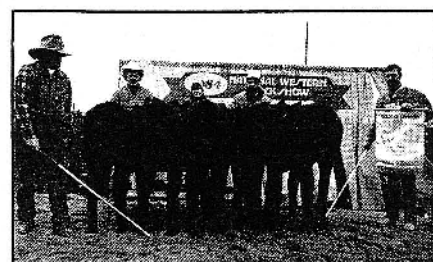

and stood 57½ inches tall. Reserve grand champion, an entry of John Herbert, Houston, Texas, weighed 1,314 lb. and measured 57¼ inches.

The champion Angus pen of five feeder steers was shown by Uhrig Ranch, Hemingford, Neb. The group averaged 661 lb. and sold for a $1,033 average with a top of $1,250. Greg Uhrig holds the championship banner; his family has lined up the champion Angus pen for several consecutive years.

Grand champion pen of five feeder steers was this entry of Al Tiemann, Goldthwaite, Texas. The Angus-Chianina cross calves weighed an average 577 lb. and sold for an average $1,166 (with a top of $2,250) in the auction of champions.

CATTLEMEN GATHER

Mark Richardson of Garney Cattle Co., Afton, Okla., and Ray Adams, Tahoka, Texas, enjoyed a welcomed seat after a long two days of Angus competition on the hill.

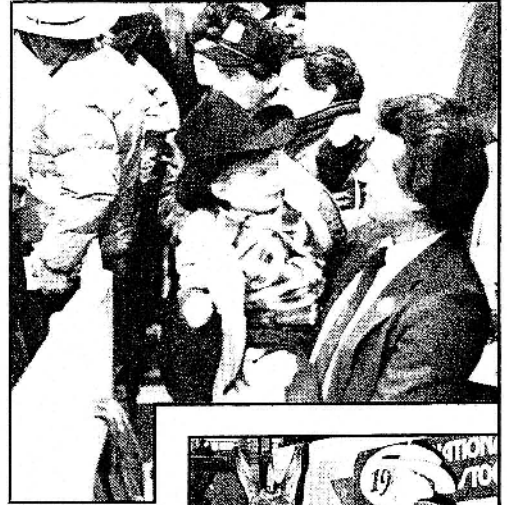

Ralph Theis, Geneva, Ill., and Barb Rishel, North Platte, Neb., were almost as pleased as Dave Hawkins that the Angus show was over.

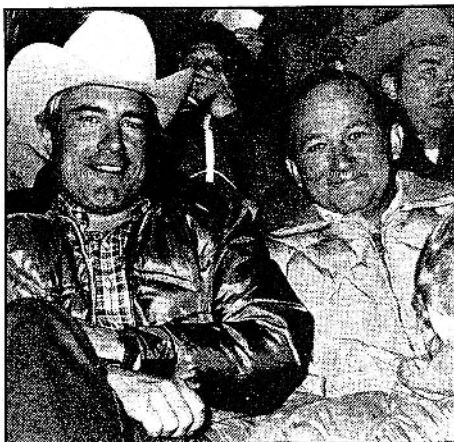

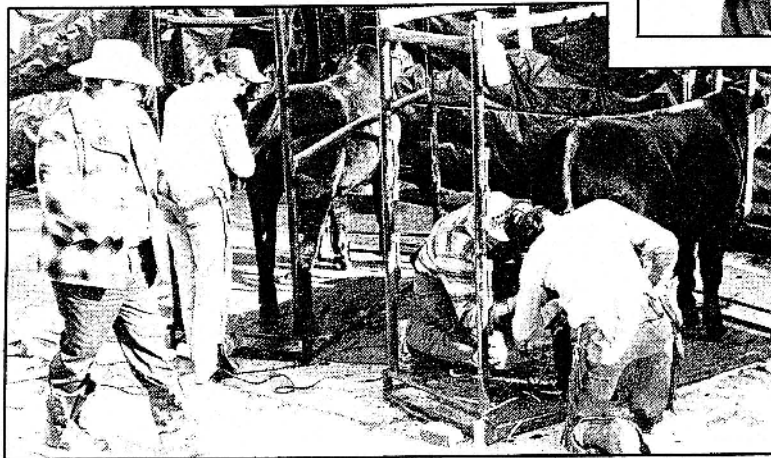

Leroy Van Dyke and son Ben, Nashville, Tenn., took in the sale action from a good vantage point.

Patsy and E.G. Foote Jr., Melba, Idaho, and John Peterson, Tranquility, Calif., each had a piece of the purple to smile about. Footes purchased a share in Crackerjack Brutus 512 from Leo's Angus, Garden City, Mo., just prior to the show. Peterson is a partner in High Profit FAR.

Perhaps you wondered what happened on the other side of the backdrop. (This is, by the way, the grand champion mammoth jack.)

Jim O'Neill, Logan, Iowa, checks a few final touches on members of his pen.

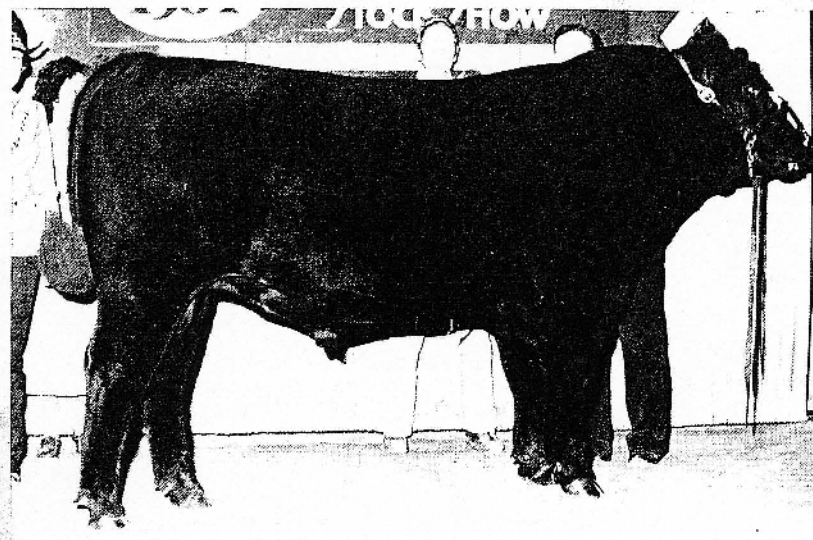

John Cox, Hay, Wash., and Mason Wilkins, Nampa, Idaho, followed the show from up in the stands.

This father and son team, Larry and Ryan Cotton, took second and third in class 13.

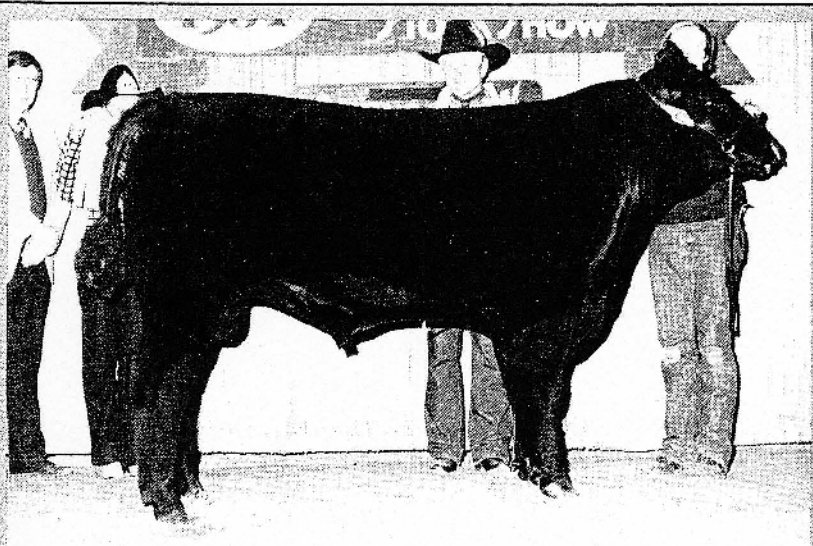

ANGUS BULL SALE AND SHOW

Grand Champion Sale Bull Rally Hi Elevation 3212

This 4-9-82 son of Fairfield Hi Guy out of AHI Miss Freetact boasts of an impressive show record and strong performance figures. A 734-lb. adjusted weaning weight (ratio 120) and a 1,148-lb. adjusted yearling weight (ratio 114) helped to earn his estimated breeding values of 107 weaning, 101 maternal and 108 yearling. On the tanbark, the "Hi Guy" youngster had been named grand champion of the New York and Connecticut state fairs as well as junior champion of the Eastern States Exposition and Eastern National Livestock Show.

Full interest and full possession of the popular 1,840-lb. consignment by Rally Farms, Millbrook, N.Y., was accompanied by 200 straws of semen. First through the sale ring, Rally Hi Elevation 3212 sold for $12,900 to Double T Angus Farms, Willow Springs, Mo.

Reserve Grand Champion Sale Bull Ellanin Enchanter 70P

The reserve grand champion sale bull headed to Denver from north of the border. The 5-27-82 son of Ken Caryl Mr. Angus 8017 out of Royal Pride 50M was consigned by Ellanvannin Farms, Gormley, Ont., and brought along an impressive history. Class winner at the Canadian National Exhibition, he had already seen service in the Ellanvannin herd. His adjusted yearling weight was 1,081 lb. and he tipped the Denver scales at 1,500 lb.

Full interest and full possession sold to Enrique Canadian and Col. Paseos, De Taxquena, Mexico, on a $8,200 nod.

Folks who stayed after the open female show to watch the sale bull show tended to agree with judge Gary Dameron, Lexington, Ill.—1984's 47-head lineup was the strongest ever presented for this event. More importantly, the crowd which packed the sale arena to the limit the following evening voiced their approval of the offering with an impressive $4,455 average.

Perhaps a little of the razzle-dazzle was missing from last year's special female attraction, but steady action and a few five-figure prices sent consignors as well as buyers home happy.

National Western Bull Sale High Seller

3 Bar Cody 1292

This 4-4-82 son of Fairfield Hi Guy out of Aristocrat Coquette 935 caught the eye of Robert Kinsley, South Branch Farms, York, Pa., and drew a $14,500 bid to top the sale. Consigned by 3 Bar Ranch, Platteville, Colo., and Deep Creek Angus Ranch, Potlatch, Idaho, he posted a weaning ratio of 115 and estimated breeding values of 106 weaning, 102 maternal and 105 yearling. Two-thirds interest and full possession of the 1,730-lb. coming 2-year-old sold.

Gary Dameron, Lexington, Ill., judged the 47 bull sale show entries, commenting that the lineup was truly a credit to the breed and breeders. Dameron mentioned that he enjoyed such a job, emphasizing "the weight is on the shoulders of prospective buyers . . . they must analyze the bulls not only as I have, but also as they will fit in respective programs."

The National Western Angus Bull Sale drew a full house once again. Several prices jumped into the five-figure zone on active bidding and steady action kept all but a few bids above $2,000. The Colorado Angus Assn. also pulled in a good crowd for their Thursday night female sale; 16 lots averaged an impressive $3,515 when the final gavel sounded.
