

While female championships went to familiar favorites, many bull show laurels were doled out to exciting new national champions. Quality ran deep in all Angus divisions, though, so every contender was of champion caliber.

January 10-12
1985 NATIONAL ANGUS SHOW

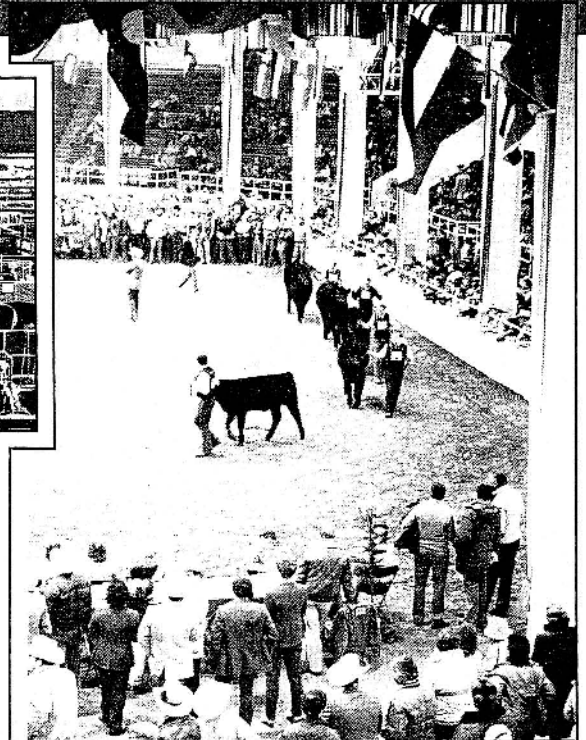

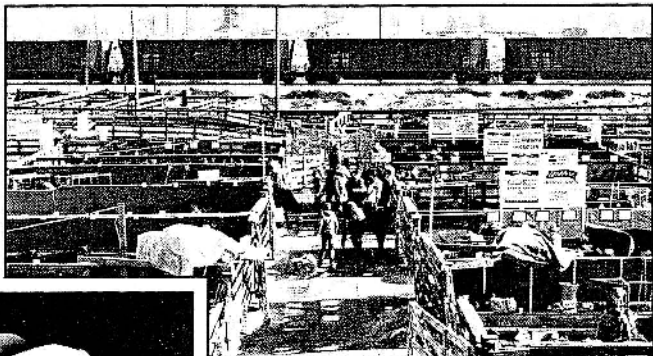

It was there again—like every year. The excitement in Denver can become an addiction. Early last month, 196 tougher-than-ever Angus lined up on the hill for the Association's 1985 National Angus Show and left nothing unsaid in proclaiming the rapid success of advancement in the breed. The new crop of junior calves were bigger and more fantastic than ever, numbering 102—over half of the total entries!

Mark Richardson, Afton, Okla., took on the elite ranks of the "hill cattle" and offered his expertise as he placed calves in their debut and many returning veterans. Exhibitors gave him a group of exciting animals to choose from and, in the end, winners included many new names (especially among the bulls), and many familiar champions.

And the enthusiasts were there. From alley to alley, stadium seat to backdrop, it was truly "people-deep." They filled the sale arena and clamored to make the National Western Sale reach new heights.

If they weren't on the hill, folks were in the yards watching a 124-head show of pens and carloads. Not one step down from last year, 17 exhibitors paraded 16 pens and eight carloads of unbeatable sets of bulls through the auction arena.

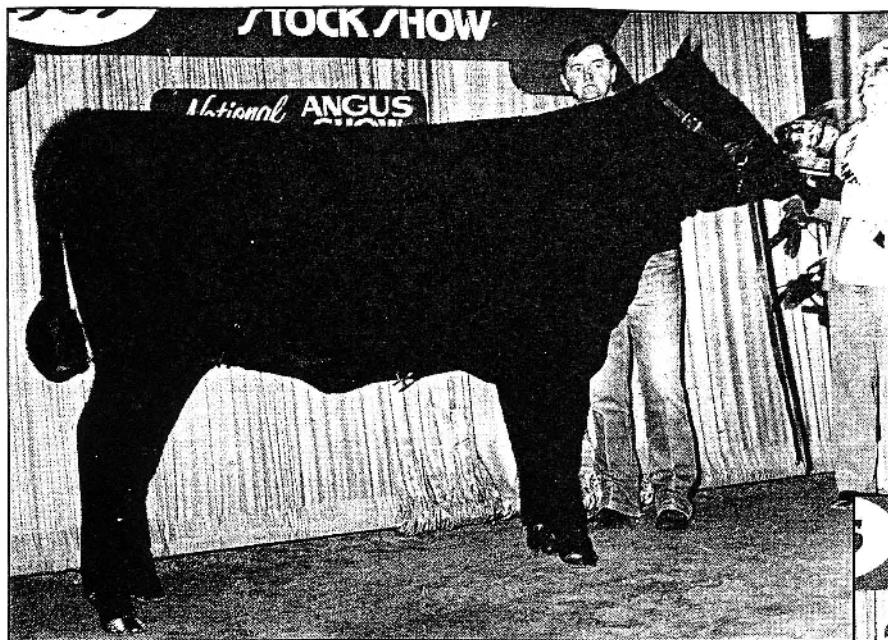

Denver spelled excitement. It always does. And the people who made it exciting were the exhibitors, spectators and all-around Angus enthusiasts. Congratulations to all who participated!

"The female show is especially significant because of the great contribution the Angus female has made in the industry . . . We need to continue to look for large-framed cattle, but be more critical and particular when looking at structural correctness . . . When we can combine visual appraisal with production and performance records, we get a package that's hard to beat in the industry!"

—Mark Richardson, Judge

GRAND CHAMPION FEMALE—WINDAC TIARA F460

Called "Tiara" for short, this 5-4-83 daughter of Dr Spock is out of Windac Class 1752 ("Windy"). Beginning her star-studded show ring performance last year at Denver, she gained an early lead by winning junior calf champion. But then she had quite an act to follow since her sire and dam were both named champions at the 1982 North American and "Windy" went on to complete her show career as a triple crown winner. "Tiara" did well, standing as reserve champion at the 1984 Futurity and grand at the North American, putting her just short of her own triple crown title. Besides winning the silver at Denver this year, an embryo out of her sold for $13,500 in the National Western Sale. (Half of the flush which yielded "Tiara" sold through the 1983 National Western Angus Sale, earning $60,000; full-sibling Harrison was also a result of that valuable mating.)

GRAND CHAMPION BULL—HAR BANG 1774

The favorite of Montana and the Northwest, HAR Bang 1774 had his own cheering section behind him the whole way. This impressive son of last year's triple crown winner QLC Winchester stood first among the toughest and biggest set of bulls ever to hit that age bracket (the now-famous class 17), then collected junior and grand champion titles. A 1-21-83 son out of Harmon Black Lady 1210 and bred by his own prefix, Harmon Angus Ranch, he tipped the scales at 1,956 lb. minutes before show time. This popular champion began a new flight in his career when two-thirds interest sold in the December 1983 Harmon Angus Ranch sale for $177,000 to a distinguished group entitled The Gang U.S.A. He won his class at the 1984 Denver show and captured grand championships at the NILE and the Yellowstone Exhibition.

Exhibited by Harmon Angus Ranch, Lavina, Mont., and The Gang U.S.A. Members of The Gang U.S.A. had plenty to celebrate in Denver. These folks, from left, put their money on the grand champion more than a year ago when he went through the Harmon Angus Ranch sale ring: H. Norman Hyatt and Karen Davis of Hyatt Cattle Co., Carol and Darrell Silveira, Pat Alexander of Goshen Hole Ranch, Russ Pepper of Birdtail Angus Ranch, Steve Harmon (breeder of the bull), Jim Thiessen, Keith Eckert, Tony Martin and Howard Hillman of Bon View Farms. Not pictured, but included in the Gang, are Gulf Pacific Cattle Co., L&A Angus, Lark Ranches, Lettunich & Sons, Melco Cattle Co., Vineyard Cattle Co. and Vintage Angus.

Doug Hoff, Bison, S.D., brought in another high-performing set of Scotch Cap bulls, chalking up the heaviest weight-per-day-of-age average for the second year running.

Keith Stevenson, Moccasin, Mont., and exhibitor Bill Rishel, North Platte, Neb., did some serious visiting just prior to the pen judging.

RESERVE GRAND CHAMPION BULL

GREENBRAE CHAIRMAN

Exhibited by Chairmans Board of Directors, Cloverdale, Ind. Walking in for the purple was nothing new to Greenbrae Chairman, and his progeny were doing it, too—at the same show. Chairman has often dominated shows in the last two years, and he suffered no lack of attention on his third trip to Denver. His first trip saw him standing as reserve junior calf champion and last year he was named intermediate champion. This year's reserve grand champion bull title of the National Angus Show rounded off an impressive list of winnings, including six grand championships and one reserve in 1984. Chairman is a May 1982 son of Fairfield Hi Guy out of Greenbrae Blackbird Lass. He pushed down the scales at 2,241 lb. just prior to entering his class.

R&J owners Ray and Jackie Plumb (right) and manager Ken Conway were all smiles after R&J Sybil 2003 collected reserve grand champion honors for R&J and partner Backgate Angus Inc. Circle G Angus valued one embryo out of the winning lady at $10,000 during Friday evening's sale.

RESERVE GRAND CHAMPION FEMALE

R&J SYBIL 2003

Exhibited by R&J Ranch, Briggs, Texas and Backgate Angus Inc., Dallas, Texas. This 7-4-83 daughter of R&J Austin 13 is out of BTR Petunia Merrick 18 (a daughter of Ken Cary! Mr Angus 8017). Close on the heels of "Tiara," this Texas sweetheart wasn't going to give up easily. Marching right in behind the intermediate champion ("Tiara"), "Sybil" (reserve intermediate) outranked Princess Jamie 1R and the youngsters to take the reserve grand championship. She had worked on her titles earlier in the year winning the 1984 Futurity and her owners will now focus on a future of production. An embryo out of "Sybil" was auctioned off for $10,000 at the National Western Sale; she will be flushed three times before carrying a natural calf.

GRAND CHAMPION CARLOADS

Exhibited by Huckfeldt-Krebs, Gordon, Neb.

In possibly the strongest competition in recent years, 10 stout, uniform sons of High Voltage and QLC Winchester captured grand champion carload honors for Huckfeldt-Krebs. The group averaged 296 days of age and weighed an average 948 lb. to post a weight per day of age of 3.20 lb.

“In the yards” has a directional meaning all its own. Where else can the true cowman feel more at home when in Denver than in the yards “lookin’ at bulls.” The glamour of “the Hill” may be missing, but you’re sure to find some of the best animals brought to the National Western Stock Show among the pens and carloads.

Every seat was filled and then some as 17 exhibitors paraded 16 pens and eight carloads through the auction arena. Beginning with new rules this year, the carload group number was reduced from 12 to 10 in the junior calf class and from 10 to eight in the yearling class.

Miles Groseth (left), North Platte, Neb.; Steve Simmons, Williamston, Mich.; and Jay Leachman (right), Bozeman, Mont., judged the pens and carloads. Simmons also lined up the sale bulls Thursday morning.

GRAND CHAMPION PEN OF THREE BULLS

Exhibited by Four Sum Cattle Co., Cave Junction, Ore.

Second-time exhibitor Darwin Schweitzer, owner of Four Sum Cattle Co., was in the purple for the second time when his pen of junior calves were awarded the championship banner. These full siblings by ZAF Administrator 131 and out of 4S Bonanza Bess 9531 (the dam of 4S Ponderosa and last year’s reserve champion pen) averaged 366 days of age and 1,193 lb. to record a weight per day of age of 3.26 lb. A pick of the pen sold for $9,500 to Murphy Angus, Bonanza, Ore., at the National Western Foundation Female Sale.

HERDSMAN OF THE YEAR
Quirk Land & Cattle Co.
Hastings, Neb.

The hours spent behind the scene fitting show cattle to their utmost, not only on the show circuit but back at the ranch or farm, spell dedication and hard work performed by many herdsman.

The American Angus Assn. honors a herdsman each year at Denver. This year, Doug Worthington was handed the title. He is the herdsman for Quirk Land & Cattle Co., Hastings, Neb.

This coveted title has special significance for its recipients since selection is made by fellow herdsman and reflects their vote for the entire past year. With this year's title came a specially designed and crafted belt buckle, presented to Worthington by the American Angus Assn.

Worthington, a native of Illinois, has been with Quirk since the fall of 1981. Prior to that position he was herdsman for Beasley Polled Herefords, Hawley, Texas, and Spring Creek Polled Herefords in Pierpoint, Ohio. Worthington is the son of Roger and Doris Worthington of Princeville, Ill.
