

Fort Worth— Oldest Running Stock Show

The nation's oldest running stock show brought a flurry of activity to the Will Rogers Memorial Complex in Fort Worth during its 12-day run. The 87th Annual Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show had more than 16,000 head of high quality livestock on exhibit. On Jan. 30 the 109-head Angus show highlighted cattle events, making Angus breeders proud to be in the barns that day.

Judge Jim Hough, Ardmore, Ala., closely scrutinized the 41 head of bulls before naming R&J Austin 13 the big winner. "Austin" is owned by R&J Ranch, Briggs, and Austin Associates. This 2-year-old son of General JJ Patton was no stranger to show ring winnings.

Another well-known name among the show crowd was the reserve grand champion, Gunston Alamo, shown by Gunston West, Lampasas, and Alamo Associates. He is a January 1982 son of Progression.

Gunston West also shared grand champion heifer honors to make a good showing at their home-state event. Gunston West co-owns HA Miss Bartman, the grand female, with Frank and Dy Dieter, Redondo, Calif. She is a March 1981 daughter of Briarhill Bartman.

It was a junior calf daughter of Fairfield Hi Guy, Grahams Lucky Lady, that suited judge Hough best for reserve grand female. She was shown by John Graham, Gilman, Iowa.

Group class honors went several directions with Lovana winning the get-of-sire on calves by Warrant. Progression put a strong stamp on his progeny to win the junior get award for exhibitors Hayes Star Ranch, Travelers Rest, S.C., and Gunston West. Repeating their win from last year, R&J took home the best six head banner.
