

National show reflects interest and Angus enthusiasm

Senior yearling and grand champion female Premier Tess 7822B.

A modest snowstorm at mid-week was the only hitch in travel plans for Denver. Weather delays, however, were minimized so most of the overflow crowd could enjoy all of "Denver" activities unhampered. Attendance at the bull show was especially impressive as Angus breeders claimed both sides of the arena. The Saturday morning event was solo Angus - the arena not being shared with another breed - and the arrangement proved to be welcome as seating would have been at a premium otherwise.

A total of 205 Angus bulls and heifers were placed by Judge Dick Burns of Dunlap, Ill., and his associate, Gene Wiese, Manning, Iowa.

A return trip to the National Western played well for the owners of Grubbs MacKenzie, the 1988 National Western reserve grand champion bull. This year, this bull - a Roll of Victory veteran and no longer a youngster at 2,532 pounds - took home the grand champion title. Brost Dan Patch was placed reserve grand. Both bulls are sons of SCR Lone Star 411, the national sire whose offspring also placed first in the get-of-sire competition.

In the female show, Premier Tess 7822B was selected grand champion and R&J Angela 1547 took reserve.

Reserve junior and reserve grand champion bull Brost Dan Patch.

Intermediate and reserve grand champion female R&J Angela 1547.
