

113 Angus Exhibited at Dixie National

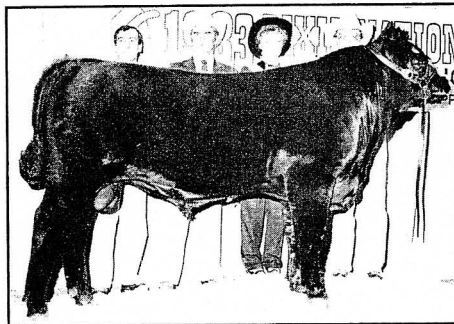

It was the largest Dixie National Angus Show in recent years—the 113 head shown in Jackson, Miss., represented owners from 16 states. Enthusiasm ran high on Feb. 13 as judge Bob Whittenburg, Auburn, Ala., placed the classes and made his championship selections.

The day seemed destined for Sir Wms Warrant progeny to win. All four top animals plus winners in both get classes carried his name on the top side of their pedigrees. The grand champion bull was White Hall Walhallo 371, the intermediate winner shown by White Hall Farms Inc., North Garden, Va. This champion had previously held his own in stiff competition at the Louisville and Denver shows where he reigned as intermediate and reserve intermediate champion, respectively.

Reserve grand champion bull was the senior calf, Lovana Sampson, shown by Lovana Farms, Clarkesville, Ga., and Paul Pickrell, Augusta, Ky.

Grand honors in the 67-head female show went to Early Sunset Allegra 93N, the intermediate champion exhibited by Lovana
