

Supreme champion, grand champion bull and calf champion High Voltage, 1,365-lb. 3-20-80 son of Ken Caryl Mr. Angus 8017 out of Queen Pride of HF 880. Bred by Huckfeldt-Krebs. Exhibited by Huckfeldt-Krebs, Kilgore, La Biznaga, S.A., and La Paloma, S.A.

by Ann Gooding

The Western National Angus Futurity—in Angus vernacular that's Reno—is traditionally both a fun show and an important show. This year was no exception.

The open show's 175 entries (within nine of last year's count) had among them the cream of the crop. Quality generally ran deep, making class and championship placings anything but easy for judge Mark Richardson, Garney Cattle Co., Afton, Okla.

Supreme and grand champion High Voltage, Denver's junior calf champion who created so much interest at that show last January, though without a doubt a popular choice, had to earn his position. Even so, this March 20, 1980, Ken Caryl Mr. Angus 8017 son owned by Huckfeldt-Krebs, Gordon, Neb., and Kilgore Angus Ranch, Rising City, Neb., once again had the industry's attention, especially when the news spread that a semen interest had sold the night before the bull show. The buyers were La Biznaga, S.A., and La Paloma, S.A., both with Buenos Aires, Argentina, addresses. The price was undisclosed.

Folks from the west coast were particularly proud of the reserve grand bull, Silveiras Main Event. A native son, the March 1979 Sayre Patriot bull was bred and exhibited by Silveria Bros., Mendota, Calif. And, needless to say, the Silveiras hosted a good-sized crowd at the stall after the show.

Also representing the west coast, this time on the distaff side, Archies Emma claimed her second Reno grand championship. The January 1979 daughter of Patrick McHenry bred by Archie and Emma Hess, Aurora, Ore., and jointly owned by Buck and Barbara Stevens, S/2 Angus at Pt. Reyes, Calif., and Premier Beef Cattle, Fowlerville, Mich., has been in transplant at Premier and is now at S/2.

The popular youngster BTR Petunia Merrick 18, junior calf champion in Denver, was reserve grand female. The Ken Caryl Mr. Angus 8017 daughter calved last March at Russ and Barb Pepper's ranch at Simms, Mont., was last fall's NILE sale topper and was shown by Bear Creek Angus Ranch, Cameron, Mont., and Huckfeldt-Krebs.

Open show judge was Mark Richardson, manager-partner of Garney Cattle Co., Afton, Okla. Richardson's work was cut out for him—a good share of the breed's top 1981 show prospects were there, and competition among the 175 head was keen.

Grand champion and junior champion Archies Emma, 1-18-79 daughter of Patrick McHenry out of Thomas Rose Queen 663. Bred by Archie and Emma Hess. Exhibited by S/2 and Premier.

Reserve grand and junior champion bull Silveiras Main Event, 2,105-lb. 3-7-79 son of Sayre Patriot out of Lays Emulous Mistress. Bred and exhibited by Silveira Bros.

Reserve grand and calf champion heifer BTR Petunia Merrick 18, 3-2-80 daughter of Ken Caryl Mr. Angus 8017 out of BTR Petunia Merrick 637. Bred by Russ Pepper. Exhibited by Bear Creek and Huckfeldt-Krebs.

Randy Graham of Quirk Land & Cattle Co., Hastings, Neb., was selected by his peers as the show's outstanding herdsman. Graham, who has been working with the Quirk show string since January 1979, also was named Herdsman of the Year at the 1980 National Western.

A semen interest in Kilgore's and Huckfeldt-Krebs' High Voltage was sold the night before he earned grand champion bull honors and was named supreme champion of the Western National Angus Futurity. Buyers (in front of the 1,365-lb. 3-20-80 son of Ken Caryl Mr. Angus 8017) were Eduardo Pampillo and Enrique Marmillon of La Biznaga, S.A., and La Paloma, S.A., Buenos Aires, Argentina. Behind the bull are co-owners Mr. & Mrs. Glenn Kilgore, Joe Huckfeldt, the Kilgores' sons Patrick and David, and Eldon Krebs.

The open show, though hands-down the main attraction, was not the Western National Angus Futurity's only well-attended event.

There was a strong junior show, with 31 bred-and-owned and 45 owned heifers parading for judge Steve Weaver, Weaver Angus Farm, Peoria, Ill. And the bred-and-owned group made their presence felt when, for the first time in the show's history, a female from that division claimed the grand championship. She was Ricks Juanadabury 3000, a March 1980 Sayre Patriot daughter shown by Rick Blanchard, Mendota, Calif. Behind her in reserve grand spot was Stephanie Nelson, Salmon, Idaho, with Nelson Blackbird 0118, a January 1980 daughter of Nelson Hi Power.

A junior fitting contest, a showmanship contest, a queen contest, a round of Angus Bowl capped off the junior activities.

Then there was Ladies Day—a rather unique event—followed by the now traditional Monday night oyster feed, supplemented this year by a well-attended steak fry.

There were also the inevitable tales of winnings—both large and small—and losses, most of which did not take place in the show ring. The casinos, in fact, kept some folks pretty busy, and some also took time to enjoy one of the several shows in Reno or nearby Tahoe—like Helen Reddy, Mac Davis, Marie and Donnie Osmond.

Western States Angus Assn.'s Dick and Diane Beck (who planned to leave soon for Wye Angus, Queenstown, Md.) and the futurity committee—Chris Abend, Jim Bessler, Bill Cox, Jon Cox, Patsy Foote, Don Jacobs, Henry LaFranchi, Dave Medeiros, Clyde Nelson, Bill Roche, Abbie Schmutz, Darwin Schweitzer, Buck Stevens and Jerry Wagner—saw that things ran smoothly.

One could say a lot more about the Reno show. It's fun. It's relaxed. The barns and tie-outs host some of the breed's finest. But let's let pictures tell the story.

SHOWMANSHIP

Ten and Under: Andra Janssen, Reno.

11-13 Years Old: Laura Allender, Auburn, Calif.

Senior: Lonnie Slezina, Coaldale, Alta.

Jean Neumeyer (center) daughter of Mr. & Mrs. Bob Neumeyer, Bonners Ferry, Idaho, will serve as this year's Western States Angus Assn. queen. Marilyn Friedrich (left), Mulino, Ore., and immediate past queen Cathy Wiser, Monroe, Ore., made presentations after Jean was chosen during the WNAF.

Steve Weaver of Weaver Angus Farm, Peoria, Ill., did the honors in the junior show, first placing 31 bred-and-owned heifers, then lining up 45 head in the owned division. He also selected showmanship winners.

It's getting to be a habit! For the third year in a row, Clyde and Ruby Nelson of Nelson Angus Ranch, Salmon, Idaho, won the WNAF junior show premier breeder award, an honor that goes to the breeder who produces the most high-placing heifers in the show.

The junior fitting contest drew nearly 50 participants as well as a good number of spectators.

Luke Stevens, Point Reyes, Calif., earned both ribbons and experience at the Western National Angus Futurity.

Among Reno spectators were Jeannette Stevenson, Hobson, Mont., and Barbara Callison, Blackfoot, Idaho.

A junior show, a showmanship contest—these have been the traditional junior events in Reno. But this year something new was added when Jerry Lipsey, American Angus Assn. director of junior activities, set up a team fitting contest Saturday afternoon.

All juniors were eligible, and there were seven teams of six members each. Team members were given a limited amount of time to fit heifers supplied by Ray and Abbie Schmutz, Reno, and Flying Bird Angus, Auburn, Calif. They were halter broke and gentle but not previously fitted. Then each team member had a chance to show the animals.

Participants were categorized by experience levels, then scored within those levels on a scale of one to 10. It was a close contest all the way—judge Larry Cotton, Fowlerville, Mich., had a workout.

This year the game was baseball. Prior to the game, syndication of the four competing teams was elevated to a fine art; during the game, baseball was elevated (?) to fine comedy; after the game, most everyone stayed for the oyster feed and steak fry. And a good time was had by all—especially Gloria Thomas' team.

Pre-game warm-up.

A blind umpire (Len Gotshalk, a well-dressed catcher (Warren Wackman) and a batter of considerable merit (Bill Cox) did their share to keep the audience laughing.

Jim Baldridge (alias Boss Hugg) made some payoffs when, at one point in the final game, things looked tough for his syndicate's team.
