

FUN: FAMILY STYLE

A new event at the NJAS centered around camaraderie.

Family Fun Night flew onto the schedule at this year's National Junior Angus Show.

Hosted the evening of July 6, crowds flocked from the barns to the parking lot to attend. With a hamburger dinner provided by the American Angus Association, a variety of games and even a dunk tank, this event brought together people of all ages.

Ducking under dodgeballs flying during the tournament, these members of the Angus family shared why this is one of their favorite weeks of the year.

"My favorite part about coming to the National Junior Angus Show is meeting all the new people and getting to show my cattle at a higher level."
ADELAIDE HAVERKAMP, KANSAS

"It's awesome just coming out here spending time with family and friends — it's just fun."

DANIEL YOUNG, NEBRASKA

"At the end of the day, it's all just about getting together with a group of people who all share the same passion. Everybody wants to be here. It's all for the juniors, and that's what it's truly about — being around Angus cattle and being with a great group of Angus people."

DAWSON DAL PORTO, NEBRASKA

"We come together from all over the nation to work towards one key goal, and that's just to have a good time and a good week."

HENRY THRONE, GEORGIA
