

Competition Tough at Eastern National Livestock Show

Henry Bergfeld of Summitcrest Farms lined up 91 head at the Eastern National. Competition was steep, particularly among the females.

Isaacs Land & Cattle Co. (right) came out on top in this grand champion heifer competition, but Greg Krueger (left) led out strong contenders for the purple all day.

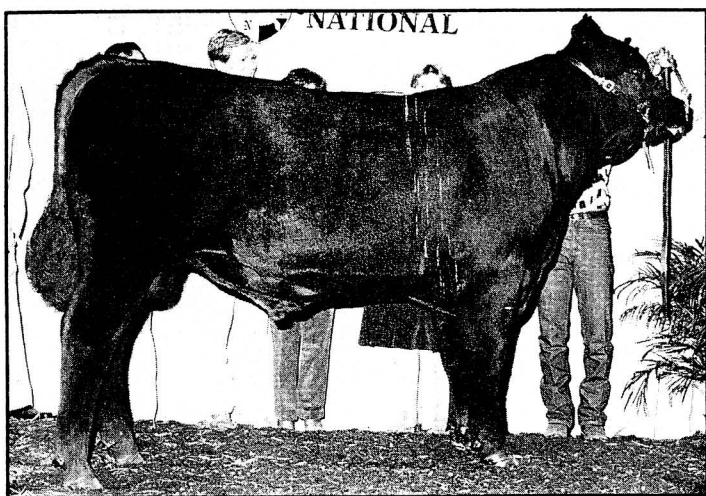

Breeders from as far west as Indiana and as far north as New Hampshire shared in the purple at this year's Eastern National in Timonium, Md., Oct. 6. And although sideline crowds were small, competition in the ring traveled a pretty fast track. Henry Bergfeld of Summitcrest Farms, Summitville, Ohio, lined up the 91 entries, remarking on the quality presented, particularly in the female classes.

Clinching top honors in the tough distaff race was Seldom Seen Queen Mother S18, a popular Pine Drive Big Sky daughter which stepped up from intermediate honors for exhibitors Isaacs Land & Cattle Co., Marysville, Ohio, and Seldom Seen Farm, Freedom, Pa. Her closest contender was reserve grand champion and junior champion Parkers Miss Blackbird 503, another Pine Drive Big Sky heifer exhibited by George Parker & Family, Barnesville, Md., and Greg Krueger & Family, Coatesville, Pa.

Dutchman, half-sib to the female champions, took grand champion bull title for Huntingdon Farm, Alexandria, Pa., and Northcote Farm, Forest, Va. Greg Krueger, practiced veteran of this winners' circle in Timonium, led out the reserve grand champion in this division, too—this time for Susan Lynn Patton, Crawfordsville, Ind., on JFP Amazement.

Isaacs, Krueger, Northcote and Huntingdon continued to rack up divisional wins, sharing the glory with many entries from the stalls of Genetics Unlimited Inc., West Grove, Pa., and American Heritage Farms, Farmland, Ind. Most of the champions sported Pine Drive Big Sky influence, and all of the get entries were his progeny.
