

ANGUS AUXILIARY ANNOUNCES '93 SCHOLARSHIP WINNERS

The American Angus Auxiliary announced its 1993 scholarship recipients and distributed $8,000 in scholarships at the 1993 All-American Angus Breeders' Futurity in Louisville, Ky., in early August.

Jennifer Lantz, Culver, Ore., won the $1,100 first-prize scholarship in the women's division. The 18-year-old daughter of Cliff and Diane Lantz, Jennifer is active in the Oregon, Western States and National Junior Angus Associations (NJAA). She serves as an FFA state officer and will attend Angelo State University to major in animal science and music.

Other scholarship winners were: Jill Sommers, Silver Lake, Ind., second; Angela Paulsen, Lone Rock, Wis., third; Cindy Hooper, Bliss, Idaho, fourth, and Crystalline Gray, Woodbury, Minn., fifth.

These five women are eligible to compete for the 1994 Miss American Angus title. She will be crowned at the NAILE Super ROV Angus Show in Louisville, Ky., this month.

Darrell Mitchell, Hiddenite, N.C., was the recipient of the men's first prize scholarship of $1,100. Darrell, the 18-year-old son of Harold and Sharon Mitchell, is attending North Carolina State University where he is majoring in animal science. He has been an active member of the North Carolina Junior Angus Association and NJAA for 11 years. This year he will serve as FFA state vice president.

Other men scholarship winners included: Will Grote, Mason, Texas, second; Jerrad Zimmerman, Platteville, Wis., third; Scott Pohlman, Norfolk, Neb., fourth; and Robert Norwood, Middleton, Tenn., fifth.

The Angus Auxiliary funds this program through the sale of a Scholarship Heifer at the All-American Angus Futurity. A total of 34 heifers have been donated by Angus breeders from throughout the United States. This year's Scholarship Heifer, donated by Circle A Ranch, Iberia, Mo., sold for $5,900. Glen and Judy Swanson, Durant, Iowa, purchased the heifer and a valuable semen package.
