2007 LEAD Conference

Juniors, make plans now to attend the 2007 Leaders Engaged in Angus Development (LEAD) Conference Aug. 2-5 in Athens, Ga. Open to members of the NJAA who are 14 to 21 years old, the annual leadership conference includes activities such as industry tours, guest speakers and workshops conducted by the NJAA Board of Directors.

At the conference, themed “Life’s a Peach, So Eat It Up,” attendees will be challenged to seize life’s opportunities and prepare themselves to be the next leaders of the agriculture industry. Conference tours and recreational activities will offer an inside look at exciting Georgia attractions and allow time for fun and friendship. Beef industry leaders will provide invaluable insight about the business of agriculture, while motivational speakers will energize attendees. New Board members elected at the National Junior Angus Show (NJAS) in Tulsa, Okla., will also start their leadership responsibilities at LEAD.

Speakers and activities will focus on Georgia agriculture. On Friday, the conference takes to the road for a tour of notable Georgia attractions and the local agriculture industry. The day concludes with a tour of Three Trees Ranch in Sharpsburg, Ga., and dinner hosted at the ranch.

On Saturday, NJAA Directors will lead conference attendees in various workshops focused on industry knowledge and personal development. Shoulderbone Plantation of White Plains, Ga., will end the day by opening its gates for an exclusive tour of its operation, followed by a dinner and dance at the ranch.

Check the NJAA web site later this spring for more details about the conference.

The NJAA is able to offer youth this dynamic and motivational conference because of the financial support it receives from the Angus Foundation. Charitable gifts from Angus breeders, allied industry interests and friends of the Angus breed support the Angus Foundation’s investment in youth activities like LEAD.

Conference space is limited to 200 participants, so reserve your spot soon. Due June 15, early registration for juniors, advisors and parents is $175. After this deadline, the rate increases to $200, if space is still available.

Registration and release forms are available in the green NJAA information packets that were mailed to all junior members earlier this year. You can also register online at www.njaa.info. For more information contact the Junior Activities Department at 816-383-5100, or visit the NJAA web site.
