Angus breeders gather in Louisville, Ky., for roll-of-victory Angus show, business meeting and social functions.

Story & photos by Association & API staffs & Steve Thelen

The Angus contingent had a new home base at the Kentucky Fair and Exposition Center (KFEC) in Louisville for the 2007 North American International Livestock Exposition (NAILE). While the Executive West still served as the hotel headquarters, most Angus events other than the cattle show moved to Rooms 201-204 on the upper level of KFEC's South Wing C.

In addition to serving as the location of the opening session, the candidate forum and the annual meeting, the upper-level location served as a meeting place for Angus members and an opportunity to learn more about the Association, its subsidiaries and affiliates. An Angus Education Center featured seminars presented by staff of the Association and its subsidiaries. An "info expo" sporting free coffee as well as booths and staff of Association entities was also available for members and others, providing opportunity to meet one-on-one with staff and ask questions about Association programs and services throughout the week.

Board highlights

The Association Board of Directors met twice during the week — once Saturday prior to the Annual Meeting and once after. Following is a review of the topics discussed and actions taken during the Board meetings Nov. 10 and 13.

- ▶ The 2007 Annual Report was presented to the Board.
- ▶ A progress report was given regarding the priorities that were identified at the March 2007 Angus Leaders Workshop.
- ▶ Board directed staff to inform the Association membership that implementation of the new carcass expected progeny differences (EPDs) would begin with publication of the Fall 2008 National Cattle Evaluation (NCE).
- ▶ A Carcass Evaluation Guidelines Task Force was appointed. The task force is comprised of Jarold Callahan, chairman;

Joe Hampton; John Schurr; Rob Thomas; and Richard Tokach. John Crouch, Bill Bowman and Sally Northcutt will serve as staff advisors. The task force is to report at the February 2008 Board meeting.

- ▶ The Board directed staff to proceed with participation in the USDA Whole Genome Scan Project with application due in February 2009.
- ▶ A legal agreement is being finalized with MMI regarding a genetic defect test, and communication materials are being developed. Implementation will begin in the first quarter of 2008.
- ▶ The AngusSource® Task Force presented a report relative to expansion of the program.
- ▶ A task force was appointed to explore the assessment and evaluation of phenotypic traits in Angus cattle. The task force is comprised of: Jay King, chairman; Jarold Callahan; Al DeClerk; Steve Olson; Robert Schlutz; Cathy Watkins; Richie Oaks; Tom Hill; and Don Boggs. John Crouch, Jim Shirley, Bryce Schumann and Ty Groshans will serve as staff advisors.

▶ Lawson Hembree of Sugar Hill Farm, Fort Smith, Ark., purchased registration number 16,000,000 during the Angus Foundation Supporter Recognition Event Saturday, Nov. 10. The $28,000 purchase will help support education, youth and research as part of the Angus Foundation's Vision of Value: Campaign for Angus fundraising effort.

▶ Angus Foundation Director Milford Jenkins (left) presents a plaque to Angus Foundation Chairman Paul Hill of Bidwell, Ohio, recognizing Hill for four years of dedication as chairman of the Angus Foundation Board. Hill will step down as chairman this year to take the reins as president of the American Angus Association.

- ▶ Committees were appointed and entity boards were elected for 2008. Those appointments are listed below.
- ▶ Staff was instructed to further review the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) agreement relative to premises registration.
- ▶ The next scheduled Board Meeting will be Feb. 20-22, 2008, in Saint Joseph, Mo.

Auxiliary Report

Annual Meeting. The annual meeting of the American Angus Auxiliary was called to order by President Mary Greiman, Garner, Iowa, at 3 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 10, 2007. There were 30 members and three guests present, plus special guests Curtis Long and his wife, Ann, of Butler, Mo.

Miss American Angus, Emily Tennant, Greensboro, N.C., addressed the meeting and expressed her appreciation for the experience given her by the Auxiliary. She also introduced the five candidates for the title of 2008 Miss American Angus: Ashlyn Carter, Upland, Ind.; Emma Collins, Morton, Miss.; Britney Creamer, Montrose, Colo.; Danielle Foster, Niles, Mich.; and Gretchen Frost, Tallula, Ill.

Introductions were made of Auxiliary Distinguished Women who were present: Linda Brost, Harrodsburg, Ky.; Lois Foster, Niles, Mich.; Sandra McCurry, Mount Hope, Kan.; and Anne Patton Schubert, Taylorsville, Ky.

Nancy Thelen from Saline, Mich., announced a record response of 32 Auxiliary scholarship applications from 25 states. Funding for the scholarships is earned through interest on the scholarship trust fund. The total scholarship amount was increased by $2,000 for 2008, as approved in the budget, for a total of $12,000 in scholarship monies. Excellent management of the funds by the Foundation treasurer was cited for enabling the increase. Some minor changes in the application itself have been made.

The Angus Sale Barn inventory has added a cup-and-saucer set that matches the chinaware being sold in past years. Orders were also being taken in the Holiday Room for a new seasonal item — a Christmas wreath and live greenery garland — another first for the Angus Sale Barn.

► Elected to serve as American Angus Auxiliary officers are Mary Greiman, Garner, Iowa, advisor; Nancy Thelen, Saline, Mich., president; Michelle Rieff, Bentonville, Ark., president-elect; and Kathi Creamer, Montrose, Colo., secretary-treasurer.

of 25 years of the Cook-Off event. Various sponsorship levels are available to have sponsor logos on the “Friends of the Black Kettle” t-shirts. The limited-edition t-shirts are only given to the cook-off contestants. One exclusive sponsor can be the only logo on the shirt for a donation of $1,500, or a second option may occur for 15 individual $100 sponsors who will each get their logo on the shirt. Other award sponsorships are also available. For more information contact Schubert at 502-477-2663 or co-chair Anne Lampe at 620-872-3915.

The Auxiliary is considering compiling a cookbook with 25 years of Cook-Off recipes as part of the 25th anniversary observance.

The Membership Committee’s report, given by Mary Greiman on behalf of chairperson Pam Patterson, Columbus, Mont., included the news of eight new lifetime memberships and a total of 100 annual memberships for the year.

Yvonne Hinman, Malta, Mont., announced $7,574 earned from Harvey Rattey Sculpture sales, the majority of which came from sales of “The Babysitter” piece. One piece alone brought $6,500 at the Foundation fundraiser last fall. Orders have come in from all over the country, and one from a Puerto Rico customer. Harvey and Pam Rattey are committed to continuing their sculpture donations to the Auxiliary. All sculpture orders must go through the Auxiliary in order for the Auxiliary to get the commission. Some repeat buyers purchase the sculptures as show awards or as business gifts.

Historical/Archives Committee Chairperson Lois Foster, Niles, Mich., noted the many materials she’d received for the 2007 scrapbook, which is very large, with a thorough collection of the year’s memorabilia. Thus, her reference to the Auxiliary as an “active group” this year. State groups contributed many unique items for the collection. The scrapbook was displayed at the Auxiliary’s annual meeting and the breakfast. Each year’s scrapbook is stored in Saint Joseph at the Association headquarters.

Program and Hospitality Committee Chairperson Sandra McCurry, Mount Hope, Kan., cited her committee and volunteers for their help with the success of the breakfast each year in Louisville. Junior members are included in the breakfast program, to carry out Sandra’s continuing slogan, “We’re all about cows and kids.”

Shirley Williams, Fort Smith, Ark., announced the updating and redesigning of the Auxiliary’s web site, hosted through API Web Services. It has a totally new look and a menu enabling greater ease in navigation. A page devoted to Miss American Angus is being developed for posting soon. Past scholarship winners’ photos and biographies are to be added, as well as past winners of the Auxiliary-sponsored All-American Certified Angus Beef® (CAB®) Cook-Off and awards. API Web Services Manager Rich Masoner gave a demonstration of the reorganized web site and its capabilities. Auxiliary member input is encouraged.

The idea of regional representation was again a significant part of the meeting discussion. A proposed bylaw amendment was published in the October 2007 Angus Journal, along with four other bylaw changes. The final votes in November were in favor of each change.

Reflective of the change, the Executive Committee of the Executive Board will now be made up of the elected officers, regional directors and the immediate past president. The Executive Committee’s role is to transact business requiring immediate attention between meetings. Regional directors will be elected by majority vote at the annual meeting. The Nominating Committee will assist each region in selecting no more than two director candidates from its region as follows:

Region 1 — Washington, Idaho, Oregon, California, Nevada, Montana, Wyoming, Utah, Arizona, Hawaii and Alaska

Region 2 — Colorado, New Mexico, Texas and Oklahoma

Region 3 — Kansas, North and South Dakota, Minnesota, Iowa, and Nebraska

Region 4 — Missouri, Arkansas,

Louisiana, Tennessee, Mississippi, Alabama, North and South Carolina, Georgia, and Florida

Region 5 — Wisconsin, Michigan, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio and Kentucky

Region 6 — Delaware, Maine, New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Vermont, New York, Rhode Island, Connecticut, New Jersey, Maryland, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Virginia and the District of Columbia

State/regional Auxiliary presidents or appointed representatives serving on the Executive Board, formerly called “state/regional directors,” will now be called “Auxiliary representatives.” If the state/regional president is unable to serve, she may appoint a representative from her state or region to serve.

The Ambassador Committee chairperson, Sandra Wallace, Kansas, Ohio, shared from that committee the difficult challenges presented in trying to involve more youth. Funding is needed to move the program forward.

The Auxiliary is considering initiating a newsletter, with the possibility of publishing it to the membership via the mail or e-mail, or both.

The Nomination Committee’s recommendation for the 2008 slate of nominees was accepted as: president, Nancy Thelen, Saline, Mich.; president-elect Michelle Rieff, Bentonville, Ark.; secretary-treasurer, Kathi Creamer, Montrose, Colo.; and officer advisor, Mary Greiman, Garner, Iowa.

Announcement of the next year’s fundraiser was made. Sheri Spader, Spader Angus Farms, Rosendale, Mo., is donating a blue roan quarterhorse to be auctioned off during the 2008 NAILE Angus activities.

Auxiliary breakfast. The Iowa decorating committee honored Auxiliary president Mary Greiman with a Christmas snowman motif at the Auxiliary’s annual breakfast Sunday morning. Goodie-filled holiday coffee mugs decorated each place setting. Entertainment was provided by Taylor Gazda, Athens, Ga., performing a vocal solo. The “Michigan Bag Ladies” brought the laughter with a hilarious interlude at the end of the program.

Sharee Sankey gave high praise as she announced two additions to the Auxiliary list of Distinguished Women. Yvonne Hinman, Malta, Mont., and Jane Ebert, Sparta, N.C., were cited for their pioneer service as officers and consecutive presidents in 1999-2000 and 2000-2001 respectively, and innovative fundraising work for the Auxiliary.

and beyond in their continuing service to the Auxiliary. Both women helped organize the first Excellence No Exception Conference in Saint Joseph, which helped stimulate creativity and grow leadership. They were also both involved in guiding the Auxiliary through the process of entrusting the Auxiliary scholarship fund to the Angus Foundation. That fund today holds nearly $300,000.

Under their guidance, Auxiliary Ways & Means has taken on a new dimension. The "Angus Sale Barn," with online purchases available on the Auxiliary web site, now averages more than 400 visits per day from across the country and abroad.

Hinman and Ebert are known for their leadership in developing quality fundraising items, says Nancy Thelen, Auxiliary President. Hinman was responsible for adding the Harvey Rattey bronzes designed specifically for the American Angus Auxiliary to the Holiday Room, and Ebert contributed the idea of the porcelain china.

The five Miss American Angus contestants enjoyed the breakfast gathering and were introduced by committee chairperson Mary McCurry.

Another highlight of the morning was the surprise honoring of Anne Patton Schubert for her 25 years of ongoing leadership and innovation of the Cook-Off competition at the National Junior Angus Show. Anne impersonators dotted the room and joined Ardyce "Maizie" O'Neill in a skit relating the early parts of the Cook-Off's history. Memorable moments in the growth of the annual event were shared by O'Neill and Schubert.

Miss American Angus. Competing for the honor of the 2008 Miss American Angus title were Ashlyn Carter, Emma Collins, Britney Creamer, Danielle Foster, and Gretchen Frost. The five young women competed Saturday and Sunday by presenting a speech, personal interviews, answering impromptu questions and a written exam.

Crowning of Miss American Angus traditionally takes place before the selection of the Roll of Victory (ROV) champion bull, and this year was no exception. Emily Tennant, 2007 Miss American Angus, was introduced to the crowd, along with the five candidates and committee chairwomen Mary McCurry and Emily McCurry.

Foundation recognizes supporters

The Angus Foundation has announced that with $4,075,000 received in out-right cash gifts, pledges and planned giving commitments, Foundation supporters are steadily progressing toward their $11 million Vision of Value: Campaign for Angus fundraising goal.

The new amount, unveiled Nov. 10 at the Angus Foundation's Supporter Recognition Event in Louisville, Ky., is the result of generous Angus breeders, allied industry interests and friends of the Angus breed wanting to help the Angus Foundation advance its mission of supporting the education, youth and research activities of the Angus industry.

Paul Hill, chairman of the Angus Foundation Board of Directors and John Crouch, chief executive officer of the American Angus Association welcomed supporters to the event. Angus Foundation President Milford Jenkins introduced and recognized special guests and donors.

Jim and Sue Coleman of Vintage Angus Ranch, John and Margaret Downs of Southern Cattle Co., Frank and Belinda VanderSloot of Riverbend Ranch, Klaus and Bonnie Birkel of Camp Cooley Ranch and Bob Norton, President of BioZyme, Inc., were presented plaques for their respective gifts and pledges of $100,000 or more to the Angus Foundation this year.

Andrew Foster, vice chairman of the National Junior Angus Association (NJAA), thanked the Angus Foundation for its support of NJAA programs and encouraged those in attendance to continue to support the Angus Foundation in its fundraising efforts. Foster stated that a wide array of NJAA activities are funded by the Angus Foundation.

Chairman of the campaign leadership cabinet, Howard Hillman, updated the Angus Foundation supporters on the progress of Vision of Value: Campaign for Angus. He highlighted the exciting growth the campaign has undergone this year, as well as emphasizing the need to continually give and encouraging others to join in this effort.

"With your ongoing support, the Vision of Value: Campaign for Angus will continue to benefit everyone in the Angus industry, including breeders and commercial producers, friends of the breed and allied industry partners," Hillman stated. "It is vital to the Angus breed to have the support that enables us to fund life-long education, exciting youth programs and cutting-edge research."

The evening's festivities ended with the auctioning of the American Angus Association registration number 16,000,000 by auctioneer Col. Steve Dorrان. The number was purchased for $28,000 by Lawson Hembree IV of Sugar Hill Farms, Fort Smith, Ark. Before making his closing remarks, Paul Hill was recognized with a plaque for his four years of service as chairman of the Angus Foundation Board of Directors.

For more information about the Angus Foundation or ways you can contribute to the Vision of Value: Campaign for Angus, contact Milford Jenkins, president of the Angus Foundation at 816-383-5100, or log on to www.angusfoundation.org.

Education Center

The Association took a different approach this year to what has in the past been a single information forum to feature new programs and services of the American Angus Association or industry issues of which members need to be aware. This year the information forum was replaced with an opening session that featured a motivational video produced by Graphic Arts of Topeka featuring the producers behind the breed and their use of Angus cattle.

Fulfilling the informational role, the education center and info expo provided more opportunity for members to interact with staff one-on-one. Most of the education center seminars — which were held in one-hour blocks Sunday through Tuesday — were well-attended. Presentations featured:

- ▶ using Association online tools;
- ▶ best practices for targeting the brand;
- ▶ genetic selection tools for heifer pregnancy and docility;
- ▶ premises registration;
- ▶ managing your herd with Angus Information Management Software;
- ▶ programs for commercial producers;
- ▶ AngusSource;
- ▶ development of new carcass EPDs;
- ▶ a cutting demonstration by CAB;
- ▶ tell your story through API's new Creative Media;
- ▶ using DNA for parent verification; and
- ▶ Vision of Value: Campaign for Angus.

Social gatherings

In addition to the Angus Foundation's Supporter Recognition Event Saturday evening, Association members gathered for several other social events. Past and present directors were invited to a reception preceding the Angus Foundation event Saturday evening. The evening provided opportunity for past directors to reminisce and to visit about current issues affecting the Association.

Sunday evening's Angus Reception marks the first all-inclusive Angus social. Members gathered for hors d'oeuvres and to say hello. The National Junior Angus Association, (NJAA) represented by Mallory Trosper, Hamilton, Mo., and Dana May, Mineral Point, Wis., took the podium to explain the embryo lottery fundraiser for the 2008 NJAS. The Auxiliary also conducted a drawing for the barbecue trailer donated by Glen Grote to help raise funds for the Pat Grote Memorial, which provides scholarships to youth. Clint Pearson of Scott City, Kan., won the drawing for the trailer.

Monday evening's Annual Banquet featured strip steaks provided by U.S. Premium Beef, award presentations and entertainment by Red Steagall.

Five Angus members were inducted into the Angus Heritage Foundation, which recognizes individuals who have made significant contributions to the improvement and advancement of the breed by dedicating their time, knowledge and efforts. 2007 inductees included John Barton, Kansas City, Mo.; Bob Hartley, Vinita, Okla.; Blanford Pierce, Creston, Ill.; and T.D. Steele, Roanoke, Va. Fred Francis, formerly of Wilmington, Ill., was inducted posthumously. For more information about the honorees, see page 107.

Mallory Trosper was presented the Outstanding Leadership Award. The award is designed to recognize one outstanding NJAA member each year based upon the leadership exhibited through Angus and various other activities. The Outstanding Leadership Award recipient receives a plaque presented by the NJAA and a check for $500. The award is made possible as a result of generous supporters and donors to the Angus Foundation.

The show

And, of course, it wouldn't be the NAILE without the cattle show.

Junior Angus exhibitors led 161 entries before judge Doug Parrett, Champaign, Ill., for the NAILE Junior Angus Heifer Show Sunday, Nov. 11. Parrett named SCC Echo Dell Nellie 6005, owned by Vince Untied of Granville, Ohio, grand champion.
