

Angus to Show at the 2014 NAILE

Plan now to attend Angus events scheduled for
Nov. 16-18 at the North American International Livestock Exposition.

In a few short weeks, Angus cattle enthusiasts will travel to Louisville, Ky., for the 2014 North American International Livestock Exposition (NAILE). Both the Angus Junior Heifer Show and the Super-Point Roll of Victory Show take place Nov. 16-18.

All shows will begin at 8 a.m. in the Kentucky Exposition Center (KEC) Freedom Hall. The junior heifer show takes place Sunday, Nov. 16; the ROV bulls, cow-calf pairs and females (in that order) will show Tuesday, Nov. 18. Chan Phillips and Keith Phillips, both of Maysville, Ky., will judge the Super-Point ROV Show. The junior heifer show judge is to be announced.

Ownership deadline for the junior show was Sept. 15, and all cattle must be entered to show with the NAILE by Oct. 1. Entries can be submitted on the website at www.livestockexpo.org. Visa® and MasterCard® are accepted. For more information, call 502-595-3166.

Minnie Lou Bradley of Childress County, Texas, will be inducted into the Saddle & Sirloin Portrait Gallery during this year's NAILE. As part of the honor, her portrait will be painted and hung with others who have been similarly recognized. The presentation banquet is scheduled for 6 p.m. Nov. 16 in the South Wing Conference Center of the KEC. Banquet tickets may be purchased for $60. For information, visit <http://mlbportrait.com> or contact Clint Rusk, OSU Department of Animal Science, 101B Animal Science Building, Stillwater, OK 74078; clint.rusk@okstate.edu; or 405-744-6062.

The American Angus Association will host a reception for NAILE attendees at 6 p.m., Monday, Nov. 17, at the Crowne Plaza. Please attend and take advantage of this opportunity to socialize with breeders from throughout the country.

Exhibitors and other show attendees are encouraged to plan now and secure a hotel room for the events. The Crowne Plaza will serve as the Angus headquarters hotel, and rooms are available for $133 per night. Give them a call at 502-367-2251 or go online for more information. The room block ends on Oct. 15.

The NAILE, which is hosted annually at the Kentucky Exposition Center, is scheduled for Nov. 9-21 in 2014. For more information on this year's NAILE, visit www.livestockexpo.org.
