New labels, packaging, for additions to company products

AgriLabs has announced new labels and packaging for three recent additions to the company's available animal health products.

The Pulmo-Guard family of pasteurella cattle vaccines (one-dose Pulmo-Guard® PHM-1, Pulmo-Guard PH-M, Express® 5-PHM) will now bear the AgriLabs brand name with familiar label and package designs.

The company says that the acquisition of the exclusive sales, marketing and distribution rights for the Pulmo-Guard products means that these vaccines will continue to be available to veterinarians and producers through the company's association with animal health distributors throughout the country.

Enhanced respiratory protection

Pfizer Animal Health has announced enhanced respiratory protection for Bovi-Shield Gold® 5. The vaccine is now labeled to prevent respiratory disease caused by infectious bovine rhinotracheitis (IBR) with at least a nine-month duration of immunity when administered by the subcutaneous (sub-Q) route. The vaccine also offers an extended duration of immunity for bovine viral diarrhea (BVD) Types 1 and 2 of at least nine months when administered by sub-Q.

Dimmable spotlight

Larson Electric's magnalight.com has added a new dimmable LED spotlight for hunting and work applications. Drawing less than 1 amp on 12 volts and 0.5 amp on 24 volts, the HL-85-10W1-D LED spotlight offers a familiar pistol grip handheld style and a dial for dimming the light output.

Operators can use this dimmable LED spotlight to create the light intensity that best allows them to see their target work area without sacrificing their eye's ability to adjust to the area around them. Weighing less than 1 pound (lb.), the new light features a magnetic base, 16-foot (ft.) detachable coil cord, cigarette plug and an inline PWM for dimming the LED light output.
