Attend on Your Own Time at www.BIFconference.com

Calving, synching, breeding, haying, working...not to mention spring family events. You have a lot of demands on your time. But staying current with the most recent advances in genetic selection and breed improvement is also core to your business.

The workload at home may have prevented you from attending the 2013 Beef Improvement Federation Annual Research Symposium and Annual Meeting June 12-15 in Oklahoma City, but you can benefit from the information shared at the meeting by visiting API's event coverage online at www.BIFconference.com. Visit the site on your time to read summaries of the sessions, view the accompanying proceedings papers and PowerPoint presentations, listen to audio of the speakers, read news releases on the award winners, and page through galleries of photos from the tours.

This online event site is made possible thanks to the cooperation of the Beef Improvement Federation and the sponsorship of LiveAuctions.tv.
