I just want to welcome you all back for another exciting year. We all know each year brings new challenges and hardship with mother nature and agriculture not always seeing eye to eye. I think it is our passion for these cattle, our love for our families, our dedication to our customers, and our faith that allows us to push all aside and keep striving to better Cates Farms annually. I believe that if you are not progressing, then you are standing still, and if you are standing still then you are going to get passed by.

It is my amazing family and tremendous staff here that allows me to stay somewhat sane. I thank my dad and Randy for giving me the opportunity I have and thank them for believing in me enough to hand over a lot of the decisions. I want to thank my wife Cortney for always being my light at the end of the tunnel and helping me to get there.

Our staff here is a main reason we can do what we do. Our Herdsman Kyle Shoufler is one of the primary reasons for our success. He is one of the most talented cattle people in all facets of the industry. He, along with Tanner Cates, our summer interns, Anna Grace Parnell and Skylar Bennett, and many others deserve so much of the credit.

Piper is starting Kindergarten this Wednesday and she is so excited! Mom, no so much. When people tell you they grow up too fast it still doesn't prepare you. My wife and I dedicate everything to this operation and it comes at the expense sometimes of our most coveted gift, our daughter Piper. This is the most challenging thing for both of us. She loves the farm and continues to be more involved all the time.

Thank you again for your continued support and we look forward to seeing you soon.

The moment Cortney and I shared after getting third overall female at Angus Junior Nationals is one I will remember forever. Here is a full sister to that female. We all like this one pretty well. It is tough to want to modify this female in her skeletal and structural design. She is one of the bigger more extended Primo daughters we have had. This is what I expect the On Point calves to look like. This is the same cow who produced the very popular Angus steer that received top five at Beef Congress. We are flushing this cow heavily and will have many full sisters to this heifer next year. This young lady is built for the long haul.

This 333 donor cow interjected some needed skeletal size and punch into our Angus herd. Similar to the full sister being shown by Sara Sullivan, these two females are good sized, and I like it. This mating is working for us as well as any right now. Cortney's mom, Marlene bought this cow for Piper, and she is doing quite well for our little five-year-old. The 333 cow is an absolute beast with huge bone and feet, with as much muscle as I've seen in an Angus cow. These two are a little different from one another, but both have a chance to be special. Lot 48A is big long and angular. Lot 48B is stout, square and powerful. Both are very sound and will compete anywhere.
